U.S. DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE
National Technical Information Service

PB-259 504

Groups That Can Help - A Directory of Environmental Organizations

Environmental Protection Agency, Washington, D C

Sep 72

BIBLIOGRAPHIC DATA SHEET	1. Report No.	2.	3. Recipient's Accession No. PB-259 504
4. Title and Subtitle Groups That Can Help - A Directory of Environmental Organizations.			5. Report Date Sep 72 6.
7. Author(s)			8. Performing Organization Rept. No.
9. Performing Organization Name and Address Environmental Protection Agency, Washington, D. C.			10. Project/Task/Work Unit No. 11. Contract/Grant No.
12. Sponsoring Organization Name and Address			13. Type of Report & Period Covered 14.

15. Supplementary Notes

16. Abstracts

The increasing awareness and concern for the environmental problems facing us today is reflected in the ever growing number of organizations which direct their efforts toward the conservation and the improvement of the environment. This directory lists many of the organizations which can be contacted by individuals seeking information and advice. It is by no means complete. The majority of those included are national organizations, but many of them have state or local chapters. All are nonprofit.

17. Key Words and Document Analysis. 17a. Descriptors

*Air pollution abatement,
*Water pollution abatement,
*Organizations,
*Directories,

Information systems,
Consulting services.

17b. Identifiers/Open-Ended Terms

Nonprofit organizations.

17c. COSATI Field Group 13B

18. Availability Statement	19. Security Class (This Report)	21. No. of Pages
National Technical Information Service Springfield, Va. 22161	UNCLASSIFIED	14p.
	20. Security Class (This Page) UNCLASSIFIED	22. Price 3.50/3.00

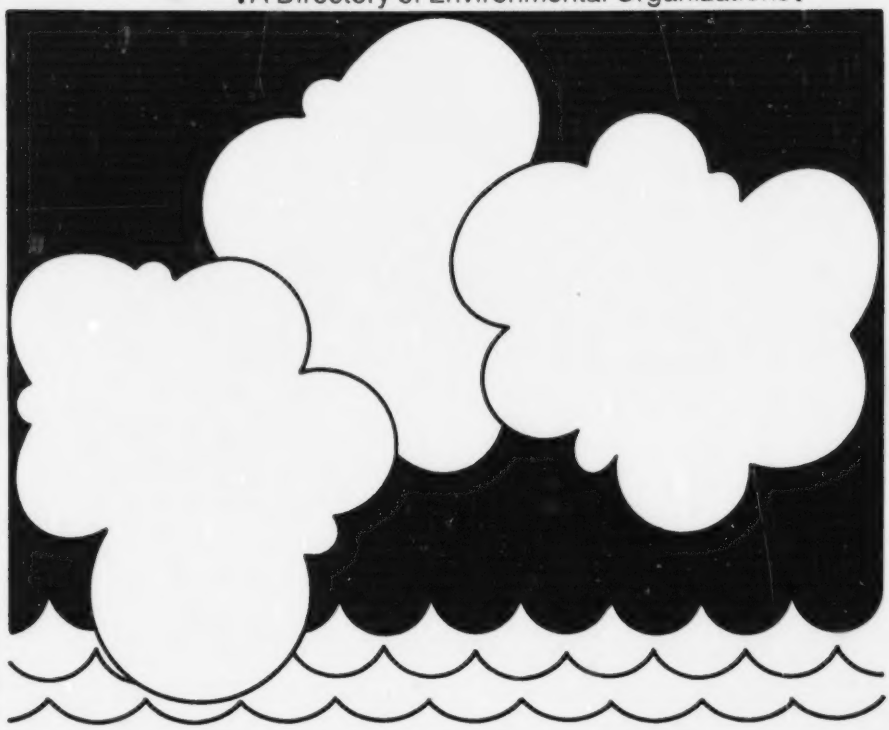
FORM NTIS-35 (REV. 10-73) ENDORSED BY ANSI AND UNESCO. THIS FORM MAY BE REPRODUCED USCOMM-DC 8265-P74

316052

PB 259 504

Groups that can help

A Directory of Environmental Organizations



It's time for people who talk about pollution to join the people who do things about pollution

REPRODUCED BY NATIONAL TECHNICAL INFORMATION SERVICE
U. S. DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE
SPRINGFIELD, VA. 22161

The increasing awareness and concern for the environmental problems facing us today is reflected in the ever growing number of organizations which direct their efforts toward the conservation and the improvement of the environment. Included are national, regional, state and literally thousands of local groups working toward a single objective—a better environmental ethic. Some provide a means, not only to obtain environmental information and advice, but also to help give direction for individual action.

This directory lists many of the organizations which can be contacted by individuals seeking information and advice. It is by no means complete. The majority of those included are national organizations, but many of them have state or local chapters. All are nonprofit.

There are many resources within individual communities which also can provide help. In addition to the many environmental citizen action groups, are the countless national and local service organizations, social clubs, church and business groups. Not to be overlooked are local private industries, utility companies and local divisions of national corporations which also can be of service.

Help, as well as advice and information, is available from your state or local environmental agencies and from the U. S. Environmental Protection Agency through its regional and Washington, D. C. offices.

September 1972

U.S. ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION AGENCY • WASHINGTON, D.C. 20460

Regional Directories

A number of EPA's Regional Offices (listed below) have compiled directories of the environmental organizations within their multi-state areas. For additional information contact the Public Affairs Director.

Regional Offices	States covered	Regional Offices	States covered
Boston, Mass. 02203 617-233-7223	Connecticut, Maine, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Rhode Island Vermont	Dallas, Texas 75201 214-749-1151	Arkansas, Louisiana, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Texas
New York, N.Y. 10007 212-264-2515	New Jersey, New York Puerto Rico, Virgin Islands	Kansas City, Mo. 64108 816-374-5495	Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska
Philadelphia, Pa. 19106 215-597-9370	Delaware, Maryland Pennsylvania, Virginia West Virginia, D.C.	Denver, Colo. 80203 303-837-4905	Colorado, Montana, North Dakota, South Dakota, Utah, Wyoming
Atlanta, Ga. 30309 404-526-3004	Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee	San Francisco, Calif. 94111 415-556-6695	Arizona, California, Hawaii, Nevada, American Samoa, Guam, Trust Territories of the Pacific, Wake Island
Chicago, Ill. 60606 312-353-5800	Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Minnesota, Ohio, Wisconsin	Seattle, WA 98101 206-442-1203	Alaska, Idaho, Oregon, Washington

Groups that can help

A Directory of Environmental Organizations

Air Pollution Control Association, 4400 Fifth Ave., Pittsburgh, Pa. 15213. Nonprofit technical and educational organization organized 1907, dedicated to advancing the science and art of air pollution control. Approximately 7,000 members worldwide include individuals in industry, science, government and education. Works toward international adoption of reasonable engineering performance standards and seeks to establish definitions, methods, processes, procedures, and recommended practical limits of air pollution emissions. Publishes monthly Journal.

American Association for the Advancement of Science, 1515 Massachusetts Ave., N. W., Washington, D. C. 20005. Members are scientists and interested laymen. Has 290 affiliated societies. Purpose is to further the work of scientists, to facilitate cooperation among them, to improve the effectiveness of science in the promotion of human welfare and to increase public understanding and appreciation of the importance and promise of the methods of science in human progress. Fosters broad interdisciplinary programs on environmental subjects. Publishes weekly magazine, Science; a quarterly review, Science Books, and symposium volumes such as Air Conservation, Estuaries, Agriculture and the Quality of Our Environment, as well as bibliography, Science for Society. Sells audiotapes and cassettes dealing with the environment.

American Association for Conservation Information, contact: George Feltner, AACI, Division of Wildlife, 6060 Broadway, Denver, Colo. 80216. Editor of bimonthly newsletter, The Balance Wheel. Membership $25, non-voting; $50 for voting membership (restricted to state officials). Members receive the newsletter and the Annual.

American Association of University Women, 2401 Virginia Ave., N. W., Washington, D. C. 20037. The 178,000 dues-paying university women in the Association's 1750 branches in the United States engage in study/action programs, including the environment. The latter program is "This Beleaguered Earth." The Washington office works with the branches and the 50 state chairmen to provide program materials. AAUW publications include Tool Catalogue: Strategies and Tactics for Successful Action Programs; Action Is Our Bag: A Working Guide for Planned Community Change ($1); The Power Quotient Bag: A Working Guide For Developing Power ($1.25). The AAUW Journal, a newspaper (five times annually), and The AAUW Journal, a magazine (semi-annually).

American Conservation Association, 30 Rockefeller Plaza, New York, N. Y. 10020. Privately supported non-membership educational and scientific organization dedicated to the advancement of knowledge and understanding of conservation and to the preservation and development of natural resources for public use.

American Institute of Architects, 1785 Massachusetts Ave., N. W., Washington, D. C. 20036. Professional membership organization to promote excellence in architecture and urban design and public action for improvement of the environment. Local chapters implement their own programs and those developed by national committees. The latter programs intended to stimulate public interest and action to improve urban environment including America at the Growing Edge—A Strategy for Building a Better America. AIA sponsors urban design assistance teams, gives citations for excellence in community architecture, supports legislation and works with public agencies to improve community planning, design and for preservation of historic architecture. Publishes monthly magazine, newsletter, books and produces movies and other visual aids.

American Institute of Planners, 1776 Massachusetts Ave., N. W., Washington, D. C. 20005. National organization of professional urban and regional planners in America. Its members work for city, county, regional, state and Federal government, as well as with private consulting firms. Sponsors conferences and interdisciplinary programs. Publishes bimonthly journal, monthly newsletter and bimonthly planners' notebook.

American Society of Planning Officials, 1313 E. 60th St., Chicago, Ill. 60637. Membership organization of planners, public officials and others interested in planned development of communities and regions. Provides research and consulting services, conducts meetings and workshops. Publications include a monthly magazine, a semi-monthly listing of jobs in planning and related fields and technical assistance bulletins on a broad range of environmental and planning problems and policies.

Appalachian Trail Conference, Box 236, Harpers Ferry, W. Va. 25425. Coordinates volunteer maintenance of the 2,040-mile Appalachian Trail from Maine to Georgia. Can provide publications and other guidance to other groups interested in establishing and maintaining trail systems.

Association of Midwest Fish and Game Law Enforcement Officers, care of Walter J. Zelinske, Director, Bureau of Law Enforcement, Department of Natural Resources, Box 450, Madison, Wisc. 54301. Organized in 1944 to promote law enforcement cooperation and efficient law enforcement practices among members in 17 states and 4 Canadian Provinces, and to disseminate information concerning illegal game law practices. The organization also devises regulatory and legislative changes which would standardize law enforcement on highest possible level.

Boy Scouts of America, National Council, North Brunswick, N. J. 08902. To establish among the boys of today, the highest type of American citizenship by supplementing and enlarging the established educational facilities for activities out-of-doors. Also to develop physical strength and endurance, powers of initiative and resourcefulness.

Camp Fire Girls, Inc., 1740 Broadway, New York, N. Y. 10019. For girls six through high school. Open also to high school boys according to local option. Camp Fire provides enjoyable and educational experiences for young people in small groups to help them grow as self-reliant, sensitive and responsible individuals. The agency program draws on the education, human relations and child development fields. Enjoyment of nature and the outdoors is a significant part of the program. Publications: The Camp Fire Girl Magazine, bimonthly (automatically sent to registered leaders and assistant leaders; open to others by subscription) and TODAY'S GIRL, 10 times yearly (for girls nine and up).

Center for the Study of Responsive Law, P. O. Box 19367, N. W., Washington, D. C. 20036. A research organization working in the public interest, including problems of the environment. Publications: research reports from the Ralph Nader Study Groups.

Citizens for Clean Air, 502 Park Ave., New York, N. Y. 10022 (Room 416). An example of a citizen group working for public education of the health, esthetic and economic effects of air pollution. Pioneered an all-media educational advertising campaign which resulted in citizen support for enactment of a local air pollution control ordinance.

Conservation Directory, National Wildlife Federation, 1412 Sixteenth St., Washington, D. C. 20036. Lists national, regional and state citizen, government and professional organizations and officials in natural resource and related fields. Issued annually. Over 100 pages. ($2.)

Conservation Education Association, c/o Dr. W. F. Clark, Eastern Montana College, Billings, Mont. 59101. Encourages conservation education programs in public schools and teacher-training. Sponsors annual conference. Publishes newsletter, bibliography, reports and other education materials.

Desert Protective Council, P. O. Box 33, Banning, Calif. 92220. Works to safeguard desert areas of scientific, scenic, historical and recreational value and to promote understanding of desert resources.

Environmental Action Foundation, Inc., 732, Dupont Circle Building, Connecticut Ave., N. W., Washington, D. C. 20036. A public, tax-exempt, nonprofit foundation which develops and supplies resources and other information on environmental issues to environmentally concerned organizations as well as to individuals.

Environmental Action, Inc., Room 731, 1346 Connecticut Ave., N. W., Washington, D. C. 20036. Nonprofit organization which evolved from Earth Day 1970. It lobbies for effective legislation for environmental reform and publishes a biweekly magazine ($7.50 annually) which airs ecological issues from legal, political and social viewpoints.

Environmental Defense Fund, Inc., 162 Old Town Road, East Setauket, N. Y. 11733. A public benefit organization comprised of scientists, lawyers and laymen which works to link law and science to defend the environment in court and before regulatory agencies. Other offices at 645 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y. 10022; 1712 N St., N. W., Washington, D. C. 20036 and 2827 Durant Ave., Berkeley, Calif. 94720.

Friends of The Earth, 620 C St., S. E., Washington, D. C. 20003 (Conservation Office). A national lobbying organization with affiliates in many European countries as well as Australia, Japan and Canada, which is committed to the rational use of the earth, after restoration and preservation. Publishes a monthly, Not Man Apart.

General Federation of Women's Clubs, 1734 N St., N. W., Washington, D. C. 20036. An organization of 51 state federations of local women's clubs and clubs in 53 foreign countries. Supports study and action programs for community betterment. Departments include conservation, education, home life, public affairs, international affairs and the arts. Publishes program materials for members.

Girl Scouts of the United States of America, 830 Third Ave., New York, N. Y. 10022. A national organization for girls 7 to 17 years of age who have promised to serve God and country and help others. Members are offered an informal educational and recreational program in a broad range of civic and service activities. Publications: Girl Scout Leader, published seven times a year; American Girl, monthly, and The Brownie Reader, issued nine times a year. .

International Association of Game, Fish and Conservation Commissioners, 425 Thirteenth St., N. W., Washington, D. C. 20004. An organization with membership open to Governmental Wildlife agencies in all states and territories of the United States the provinces of Canada and to other governments of the Western Hemisphere. Main objective is to foster healthy public sentiment to favor better laws for the protection of all natural resources and to cultivate friendly relations, mutual understanding and coordination among those officially engaged in public administration responsible for the protection, preservation and management of the game, furbearers, fish, birds, forests, waters and soils of America. Publications: PROCEEDINGS of Annual Meetings, ($3.) and Public Land Policy Impact on Fish and Wildlife ($2.).

Izaak Walton League of America, Room 806, 1800 North Kent St., Arlington, Va. 22209. A membership organization of citizens, founded 50 years ago, which has grown to a national organization with 600 chapters. Chapter members work in their own communities and are dedicated "to the restoration and wise use of all our resources." The League assists chapter and state divisions with information, literature and professional staff services. From its earliest history the League has campaigned in legislative efforts aiding State and Federal water pollution control agencies. It seeks to preserve our national parks, lakeshores and seashores and fights against pesticide abuse, air pollution and for estuaries, solid waste recycling, land-use planning and through publications and resource materials, for environmental education. Publishes monthly Outdoor America for all members and interested citizens.

John Muir Institute for Environmental Studies, 1098 Mills Tower, San Francisco, Calif. 94104. Purpose is environmental research and education.

Keep America Beautiful, 99 Park Ave., New York, N. Y. 10016. National public service organization. Conducts a public education program to combat litter as a necessary first step toward solving broader environmental problems and to increase knowledge of solid waste disposal techniques. Organization provides assistance, materials and advice for "grass roots" efforts by some 7,000 community groups and 32 state-wide affiliates. Representatives of 18 government agencies and 80 public service and professional organizations make up the National Advisory Council.

Lake Erie Cleanup Committee, Inc., 3003 Eleventh St., Monroe, Mich. 48161. Purpose of the membership (including representatives of Michigan and Ohio citizen groups) is to stop the pollution of Lake Erie and of all other fresh water lakes and streams and to encourage need for pollution controls.

Lake Michigan Federation, 53 W. Jackson Blvd., Chicago, Ill. 60604. Citizen organizations from Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana and Michigan in a Federation work to protect Lake Michigan from pollution. It is financed by foundation grants and by members' contributions. Publications: A monthly newsletter and periodic information reports.

League of Conservation Voters, 324 C St., S. E., Washington, D. C. 20003. This nonpartisan organization is a national campaign committee working to promote the election of legislators pledged to seek through legislative means, a healthy environment. It publicizes roll call votes on environmental issues.

League of Women Voters of the United States, 1730 M St., N. W., Washington, D. C. 20036. Nonpartisan membership (160,000) organization of local and state Leagues. Promotes political responsibility through informed and active citizen participation in government. Concerns include water and related land use, air and land use, planning, with emphasis on solid waste management.

National Association of Conservation Districts, 1025 Vermont Ave., N. W., Washington, D. C. 20005. Membership organization of 3,000 local districts (subdivision of state governments) and 50 state associations working to conserve and develop land, water and related natural resources. Its local conservation districts can provide answers to natural environment problems and give technical assistance. Publications: Tuesday Letter (weekly), and NACD (explaining the work of the Association), America's Conservation Districts (telling of the work of the districts), Environmental Action Guide, Guide to Conservation Careers and an Environmental Film Catalogue. All but Tuesday Letter are one-time publications, periodically updated.

National Association of Counties Research Foundation, 1001 Connecticut Ave., N. W., Washington, D. C. 20036. Seeks to apply social science techniques to solve problems of local governments. Published (and available) series of manuals on water and air pollution, solid waste management, outdoor recreation, soil erosion and sediment control. Parent organization is the National Association of Counties, a nonprofit, membership organization. Publishes a monthly, The American County.

National Audubon Society, 950 Third Ave., New York, N. Y. 10022. Membership organization with 260 local chapters. Works for conservation of all natural resources and conservation education. Special programs for Nature Centers Planning Division provides technical assistance in planning and operation of community nature centers. Offers field staff assistance on cost-share basis. The Society publishes bimonthly magazine, newsletters, bulletins and teaching aids, publications list. Offers films and speaker services.

National Coal Association, 1130 Seventeenth St., N. W., Washington, D. C. 20036. Membership from coal mining and allied industries who are concerned with air quality, acid mine drainage and mined-land reclamation. Publishes weekly newsletters.

National Education Association, 1201 Sixteenth St., N. W., Washington, D. C. 20036. Professional organization of educators which, with regard to education in conservation and natural beauty, assists schools in teaching future citizens to appreciate their natural heritage, recognize forces which endanger it and be prepared to help maintain a desirable environment. Publications include a journal and a list of references on conservation education.

National Parks and Conservation Association, 1701 Eighteenth St., N. W., Washington, D. C. 20009. Encourages public support for the protection of the national park system and of the natural environment generally. Interests include river basin planning, regional recreation planning and wilderness and wildlife protection. Publishes monthly National Parks Magazine, leaflets and studies on conservation issues.

National Trust for Historic Preservation, 740 Jackson Pl., N. W., Washington, D. C. 20006. Membership organization made up of individuals and groups. Provides advice and technical assistance on preservation and restoration of buildings or sites significant in American history and culture. Cooperates with National Park Service and other agencies on Historic American Buildings Survey, National Register of Landmarks and similar projects. Administers endowed properties for public enjoyment. Publishes studies and leaflets on such subjects as preservation law and restoration techniques, a quarterly journal and a monthly newspaper and maintains Preservation Bookstore at 740 Jackson Place.

National Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association, 1740 Broadway, New York, N. Y. 10019. A voluntary organization concerned with prevention of respiratory diseases and aggravating factors, including air pollution. Organizational makeup: some 300 associations, thousands of volunteer and professional workers and medical section —The American Thoracic Society. Air conservation activities: a National Air Conservation Commission and local and state air conservation committees work with citizenry and other civic-minded groups for effective air pollution control. Informational material available from national, state and local TRD Associations.

Outdoor Writers Association of America, Inc., 110 Brown Deer Professional Building, 4141 West Bradley Road, Milwaukee, Wisc. 53209. Association members strive to increase their knowledge and understanding in the support of conservation of the country's natural resources, and by pledging to maintain highest ethical standards, improve themselves in the art of their craft. Publication: Outdoor Unlimited, a monthly.

Resources for the Future, 1755 Massachusetts Ave., N. W., Washington, D. C. 20036. Conducts programs of research and education in development, conservation and use of natural resources and on quality of the environment, through its own staff and through grants to other institutions.

Save The Dunes Council, 1512 Park Drive, Munster, Ind. 46321. Membership is dedicated to the establishment, enlargement and development of the Indiana Dunes National Lakeshore, on Lake Michigan and to combat air and water pollution to protect ecological values of the dunes region and of the Lake.

Scientists' Institute for Public Information, 30 East 68th St., New York, N. Y. 10021. Utilizes scientists of all disciplines in public information programs dealing with many social issues and serves as national coordinating body for local scientific information committees. Seeks to integrate their work and promote their growth. Publications: Environment (10 times annually) and SIPI Report, issued quarterly.

Sierra Club, 1050 Mills Tower, 220 Bush St., San Francisco, Calif. 94104. Membership organization of 140,000 in 41 chapters in the United States, U. S. territories, Canada and elsewhere in the world, devoted to protecting and conserving natural resources. Active in legislation and litigation at all government levels devoted to the full range of environmental problems. Sponsors wilderness outings, mountaineering, skiing and river touring. Publishes scientific and educational studies concerning all aspects of man's environment and natural ecosystems of the world and to educate people to the need to preserve and restore the quality of that environment. Also publishes Sierra Club Bulletin (monthly, $5.); National News Report (weekly, $5.) and Sierra Club Books.

Soil Conservation Society of America, 7515 N. E. Ankeny Road, Ankeny, Iowa 50021. The membership advances the science of good land use by providing a common meeting ground for specialized interests through an annual meeting. Affiliated are 135 chapters. More than 14,000 members comprise the Society and receive the bimonthly Journal of Soil and Water Conservation.

The Conservation Foundation, 1717 Massachusetts Ave., N. W., Washington, D. C. 20036. Privately supported non-membership organization for research, education and information to help protect and enhance the quality of the environment. Conducts an interdisciplinary program of environmental studies, conservation services and research. Seeks to encourage recognition of ecological principles and natural resource values in planning and decision-making and to increase effectiveness of social action for accomplishing environmental goals. Special emphasis on land use and energy issues. Publishes monthly newsletter on environmental issues ($6. annually), as well as books and pamphlets.

The Environmental Law Institute, Suite 614-E, 1346 Connecticut Ave., N. W., Washington, D. C. 20036. The Institute, a joint project of The Conservation Foundation and the Public Law Education Institute, conducts a wide program of research in environmental law. The Institute provides a law reporter (monthly) as well as a document service to members of the Bar, teachers and scholars. The Environmental Law Reporter provides analytic materials in Summary and Comments, Articles and Notes and the Digest-Facsimile Service. It also publishes the texts of court and agency decisions, statutes, guidelines, etc., in Litigation, Administrative Proceedings and Statutory and Administrative Materials.

The Garden Club of America, 598 Madison Ave., New York, N.Y. 10022. National organization of member clubs which promote knowledge and appreciation of conservation, horticulture and landscape design. Maintains library, holds forums and lectures and flower shows open to the public. Supports scholarships in horticulture, conservation and landscape architecture. Distributes conservation education packet The World Around You to teachers.

The National Wildlife Federation, 1412 Sixteenth St., N. W., Washington, D. C. 20036. Nonprofit, private conservation organization with affiliates in 50 states, the Virgin Islands, Puerto Rico and Guam.

Works toward the solution of problems confronting man, wildlife and the environment. Sponsors research fellowship grants in natural resource areas and directs the annual National Wildlife Week. Sponsors Conservation Safaris throughout the world and sponsors Camp Energy where conservationists and industry join hands. Publishes three bimonthly magazines, newsletters, conservation education pamphlets and teaching materials.

The Nature Conservancy, 1800 N. Kent St., Arlington, Va. 22209. Membership organization with primary purpose of acquiring land to help preserve the county's natural heritage. A revolving loan fund permits purchase of natural areas threatened with destruction. Accepts gifts of land for conservation purposes, manages a system of reserves, provides technical assistance to landowners, groups and government agencies. Assists universities in acquisition of land for biological study. Publishes quarterly news on activities.

The Urban Land Research Foundation, 1200 Eighteenth St., N. W., Washington, D. C. 20036. Sponsors practical research in innovative land-planning, wastewater collection and treatment systems. Publishes monthly newsletters and magazine, technical bulletins and special reports from research projects and panel studies.

The Wilderness Society, 729 Fifteenth St., N. W., Washington, D. C. 20005. Membership organization dedicated to increase knowledge and appreciation of wilderness and to see established policies and programs for its protection and use. Encourages members to work for preservation of wilderness areas near home communities in cooperation with other groups. Publishes quarterly magazine, The Living Wilderness.

Urban Land Institute, 1200 Eighteenth St., N. W., Washington, D. C. 20036. Independent, nonprofit research and educational organization supported by membership, publication sales and sponsored research. Works to promote better land planning and development through study, analysis and reporting of innovative trends in development and land use. Publishes monthly newsletter and magazine, technical bulletins and special reports on land planning and development.

Water Pollution Control Federation, 3900 Wisconsin Ave., N. W., Washington, D. C. 20016. A technical, scientific organization comprised of independent regional, state and international Associations. Its objectives are the advancement and application of knowledge of the nature of wastewater and the design, construction and operation of municipal and industrial wastewater collection and treatment systems. Publications: Journal of The Water Pollution Control (monthly), Highlights (monthly), Deeds and Data (monthly), a Directory (biannually) and The Year Book (biannually), technical manuals of Practice and Training materials (periodically).

Wildlife Management Institute, 709 Wire Building, N. W., Washington, D. C. 20005. Supported by individuals, groups and industries to promote restoration and improved management of wildlife and related natural resources. Field representatives provide technical services to landowners and work with State and Federal agencies. Publishes books and newsletter.

Zero Population Growth, Inc., 343 Second St., Los Angeles, Calif. 94022, also 901 East Capitol St., S. E., Washington, D. C. 20003. A nonprofit corporation which, through education and political activity seeks to stop the population explosion. Publications: The ZPG National Reporter (monthly) and Equilibrium (quarterly).